Section 5 Use of social media plug-ins

(1) We currently use the following social media plug-ins: Facebook, Google+, Xing, LinkedIn. We use the “two click” solution here. This means that when you visit our website, no personal data is disclosed in principle to the provider of the plug-in to begin with. You can identify the provider of the plug-in by the marking on the box above its initial letters or the logo. We give you the option of communicating directly with the provider of the plug-in using the button. Only when you click on the marked field and activate it by doing so does the plug-in provider receive the information that you have visited the relevant website of our online presence. Furthermore, the data specified in section 3 of this statement is transferred. According to the information provided by the respective service providers in Germany, Facebook and Xing anonymize the IP address immediately after it has been collected. When the plug-in is activated, personal data is transmitted from you to the relevant plug-in provider and stored there (in the US in the case of US service providers). As the plug-in providers use cookies in particular to collect data, we recommend that you delete all cookies using your browser's security settings before you click on the boxes that are grayed out.

(2) We have no influence on the data that is collected and the data processing procedures, nor are we aware of the full scope of the data collection, the purposes of the processing and the storage periods. We also do not have any information on the deletion of the collected data by the plug-in providers.

(3) The plug-in provider stores the data collected about you as user profiles and uses these for the purposes of advertising, market research and/or the tailored design of their website. An analysis of this kind is carried out in particular (including for users who are not logged in) to display tailored advertising and to inform other users of the social network about your activities on our website. You have a right to lodge an objection to the creation of these user profiles, where you must contact the relevant plug-in provider in order to exercise this right. We offer you the option through the plug-ins to interact with the social networks and other users so that we can enhance our offer and design it so that it is more interesting for you as a user. The legal basis for using the plug-ins is provided by Article 6(1) sentence 1 point (f) GDPR.

(4) The data is forwarded depending on whether you have an account with the plug-in provider and are logged in there. If you are logged in to the plug-in provider, your data that is collected from us will be directly assigned to your account with the plug-in provider. When you click the activated button and link the page, for example, the plug-in provider also stores this information in your user account and publicly notifies it to your contacts. We recommend you log out regularly after using a social network, especially before activating the button, however, as you can avoid an assignment to your profile at the plug-in provider in this way.

(5) You can obtain more information on the purpose and scope of the data collection and processing by the plug-in provider in the data privacy statements provided below. You can also obtain more information there on your related rights and settings options for protecting your privacy.
